A NEW WAY TO SMOKE.—Col. Ira Tripp is a large land and coal owner at Serrano, Pa. At present he is stopping at the Merchants' Hotel in this city. Ten years ago he was, next to Grant, the most inveterate smoker in the known world. His daily average was but little less than fifty cigars. Any constitution save that of the United States must have succumbed to such persistent and off-repeated attacks upon it; and at that time Col. Tripp's began to manifest a slight flavor of early decay. His physicians called halt, as coal trade was threatened with the loss of an upright member. Col. Tripp did halt. With the memory of his first half Spanish, the glory of the later heroes, and the intoxicating bliss of his last royal Havana clustering around him, he consented to go into a sort of involuntary exile from what was a little dearer than either horse or dog. He did this more than reluctantly. Indeed, he tried all kinds of methods to hold on to the pleasure and avoid the pain, but his physicians would admit of no compromise. To chew was as bad as to smoke, to snuff worse than either. But the Col. was not to be beaten. He has one of the most beautiful and capacious Roman noses to be seen to-day upon Broadway or Chatham street. This nose looks down upon the long, full, gray, flowing, floppy beard as the peak of Tenerife looks down upon the sea. He haunted the places where the best cigars were smoked, and snuffed their perfumes as angels do the roses of Paradise—at first at a distance, and then drawing nearer as the delicate sense required more. He would place himself in front of some one about his size, and beg the smoker to exhale his smoke full in the Colonel's face. His Roman nose did its full duty, but too often the smoke was cold and robbed of half its strength before it reached him. His friends saw his trouble and sympathized with him. By a secret convention they all agreed that whoever had most leisure at any time would direct his superfluous smoke straight to the Roman nose; and this is the only way in which the Colonel has smoked since 1853.

AN EPISCOPAL CONGRESS.—There is a prospect that the different parties in the Protestant Episcopal Church will have an opportunity very soon of contending for their respective theories in a more direct way than they have been able to do heretofore. Bishop Cox, of Western New York, proposes that a constitutional Congress of the Church shall meet before 1876, with power to adjourn from time to time, to be charged with the duty of making such changes in the organic law of the Church as may be referred to it. The Bishop thinks the time has come to settle the question whether Episcopacy is to be "fossilized as an Anglican exotic," or to rise to its proper sphere and become a mother to all the immigrants who are coming in from Europe and Asia. He adds: "The question of suffragan bishops for such tribes; the question as to the see system; the question as to the liturgies in foreign tongues and as adapted to foreign people—these and others, which I will not now enumerate, press upon us as the great problems to be solved, and which never will be solved under the machinery and routine of our existing conventions."—Baltimore American.

COLLATERAL SECURITY.—A correspondent of the Journal of Commerce says: "I loaned money a few days ago at legal interest, at five days' call, with railroad bonds as collateral security. A friend suggests that if the borrowers (now in high credit) get into trouble these collaterals could be claimed under the bankrupt law as assets of the bankrupts, and I could only come in as a general creditor. Surely, this cannot be so; don't snub us. I'd like for our ignorance in these days of progress, but say in your money columns how this is."

The editor replies: "Your friend is in error. Securities pledged when money is borrowed, or a debt is incurred, are held for it, the assignee in bankruptcy only coming in for the surplus, if any, after the lien is satisfied."

THE LOBBY OF THE BRITISH HOUSE OF PARLIAMENT has a different significance from that of our Congress. It is an important place for our Congress. One, at least, for each party is, on the whole, "bits, stationed at the doors of the House, not like the doorkeepers, to keep strangers from going in, but to see that none of their supporters go away unpaired, as thoughtless members are apt to do if not carefully watched. This, however, is but a small part of the duties of whips. The word 'whip' is an abbreviation of 'whipper-in' and, as the whipper-in of the hunting field keeps the dogs together on the right track, so the Parliament-whip keeps his supporters together if he can; but, unfortunately, members are not dogs, but men, and cannot be made literally as amenable to the whip as he could wish.

IS RAISING PORK PROFITABLE?—The members of the Rappahannock Club, an association of Stafford farmers, will discuss at their next meeting in May—"Would it be profitable for us to raise pork for market?" The Club might go farther and ask whether we ought to send to Baltimore and Philadelphia for cabbage, potatoes, &c., &c. Surely there is more profit made on such articles than there is on corn at 60 cents a bushel. Not less than $100,000 is annually sent away from Fredericksburg for bacon. The question is, whether it is economical to purchase from abroad that which might and ought to be raised at home. A farmer that buys what he ought to produce will soon find himself out at the knees and elbows, and the same is true of a people aggregated.—Fredericksburg Herald.

A REMARKABLE CASE.—About three weeks ago a lady of sixty-six years of age, and living near Zion's Church, on White's creek, gave birth to a child, Mrs. Searey and Manlove being the attending physicians. Both mother and child are doing well, the child, a girl, being the very picture of health. The lady in question is the mother of several daughters, all of whom were married several years ago, and before this new departure had the happy privilege of paying her attentions to numerous grandchildren. This is certainly a very remarkable case, and we doubt if the medical records show a similar one anywhere. The fortunate father is about the same age of his wife.—Nashville Union.

DR. JOHNSTON.
Physician of this celebrated institution, has discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effectual Remedy in the world for all DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.
Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Affecting of the Kidneys or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Low Spirits,
Constipation, Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight, or Gid-diness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affecting of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—accrue, and lead to the songs of the Sirens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, &c.

YOUNG MEN.
Especially, who have become the victims of Stagnant Vice, and dreadful and destructive habits, which annually sweep to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senators with the thunders of eloquence, or waited to exterminate the living tyrant, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.
Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, aware of Physical Weakness, Loss of Procreative Power—(Impotency), Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other Disqualification, speedily relieved.
He who places himself under the care of Dr. J.
may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS.
Immediately cured and Full Vigor Restored.
This distressing Affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgence. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the natural powers are lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent?
Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions weakened. Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constipation, Debility, and Wasting of the frame, Cough, Consumption, Dipsy and Death.
